

Sally Strachey Historic Conservation Practice Profile

Sally Strachey Historic Conservation are award-winning specialists in the repair and conservation of historic fabric across a range of projects including architectural stonework, archaeological sites, museum pieces, church monuments, historic plaster and render, sculpture, polychrome and decorative surfaces. As a team of skilled craftspeople and consultants, we always aim to deliver excellence in our work. Our guiding principles are care and respect for the historic fabric, and a strong passion for heritage. We have evolved as a company to develop ways of working with our clients that uphold this ethos whilst also meeting the programme and budgetary constraints of any project. We are based in the South West but have site teams working across the South and South East, London, the Midlands, Wales and further afield.

London

Our experience spans over 35 years and covers a wide range of ecclesiastical buildings, historic sites and monuments. We operate both as a main contractor and a specialist sub-contractor on site, with work executed by our highly skilled team of masons, carvers and conservators; we also have a dedicated team of rope access conservators. We offer surveying and conservation report writing services to inform specifications of work or support grant funding applications. As a main contractor we have a proven track record of working collaboratively with clients, consultants, and specialist sub-contractors to deliver successful projects on site. As a specialist sub-contractor, we undertake complex conservation specifications including the cleaning, consolidation, structural and conservation repair of historic fabric. We bring professional accreditation (ICON) and are dedicated to the training and development of our workforce to ensure the highest quality of work and to meet all current health and safety standards.
